ROSE GHAIYYATH SET TO BLOOM IN

GOODWOOD FEATURE

By Gideon Brooks, Press Association

Rose Ghaiyyath is expected to make the most of having her sights lowered in the Weatherbys British EBF Agnes Keyser Fillies' Stakes at Goodwood. There are several nice fillies on show in this Listed event and it could be worth siding with one dropping back in grade rather than going the other way. Richard Hughes has rebooked Billy Loughnane for Rose Ghaiyyath after a decent midfield showing in the 1000 Guineas at Newmarket, the pair finishing 10th but beaten only five and three-quarter lengths by the winner True Love. Given the way she plugged on over the Rowley Mile, with some very decent horses around and behind her, the extra two furlongs she encounters on the Sussex Downs should bring about improvement. Loughnane could also be on the mark for Ian Williams, with the talented trainer running interesting ex-French gelding Hermetic in the Billy Vigar Handicap. The Sea The Stars gelding had four runs for Christophe Ferland across the Channel, winning two including one at this trip of two miles. Judged on his debut run for Williams when fourth in a decent handicap at York over a mile and a half, he could be well enough treated off a mark of 81 and a step back up in trip looks a good play. It was not a comfortable watch if you backed Seven Questions at this venue little over a fortnight ago, despite the fact that Jamie Spencer put the five-year-old in front where it mattered. But if your nerves can stand it, the Robert Cowell-trained sprinter could be worth backing to follow up in the Rod Gaskin Garden Machinery Handicap. It is true the gelding has not exactly made winning a regular habit, with his victory last time his first for Cowell and a first in his last 16 attempts - but the flipside is he has dropped down the weights. The selection is up 3lb for his last gasp win 16 days ago but, significantly, remains 17lb below his highest ever rating. That should make him competitive if, as seems likely on recent evidence, he has rediscovered some zip. Perth will stage a decent card of jumps action with some valuable pots and Patrick Neville's highly progressive six-year-old Cosmic Soul can land one of them, the Scone Palace International Horse Trials Handicap Hurdle. Brian Hughes is an eye-catching booking for a horse who is chasing a five-timer, having supplemented success at Southwell with a Sedgefield hat-trick. A 6lb rise for a comfortable win on his latest visit to County Durham does not look insurmountable for a horse who is clearly on a steep upward curve. Neville will saddle his stable star The Real Whacker in the feature Perth Gold Cup, but recent results suggest he may not be the force he once was and preference is for Dan Skelton's Riskintheground. An eight-time winner over fences, the nine-year-old was no match for Glengouly on his most recent appearance at Uttoxeter, but could be seen to better effect as he steps back up to three miles for the first time in a while.
