Quite Cheeky can use experience to strike again at Epsom

By Nick Grant, Press Association Sport

Quite Cheeky can make course experience tell with victory in the Betfred Derby "Wild Card" EBF Conditions Stakes at Epsom. The William Haggas-trained colt took the first steps on what might be a promising career over seven furlongs here earlier this month, racing with a good deal of zest, possibly a bit too much for his own good. Understandably green when hitting the front at a venue that takes some knowing for most horses never mind a newcomer, he was a neck to the good over race favourite Astabuen. By Teofilo out of a Monsun mare, the extra distance this weekend should suit and while drying ground might be a concern his proven ability to win on the Derby track can overcome that. This race in fact gives the winner an automatic entry at the initial stage for the Derby and it might be that first run was a sighter with a view of going for this. The completely unexposed Matins is another in action on the card for the Somerville Lodge team and he might prove a bit better than the rest in the Betfred "Bet Builder" Handicap. The Cheveley Park-owned Frankel colt is an intriguing entry given he has run out a wide-margin winner on his two previous visits to a racecourse so far, scoring by 16 lengths from a solitary rival in a novice event at Yarmouth when last seen. Those two victories earned Matins an initial handicap mark of 95, but on what he has shown so far that might be lenient. Talking of Derbys, Newmarket trainer James Owen can hopefully make it third time lucky when he saddles Nibras Gold for the Betfred "Nifty 50" Jump Jockeys Derby Handicap. As the race title suggests, this race over the full Derby trip is for professional jump jockeys and Jonathan Burke will do the steering for Owen, who has sent out Crooked Path to be second this season in both the amateur riders' Derby and apprentice Derby over course and distance. He was entered in this, too, but instead Owen relies on his Chester winner, who has been in good form all year and had Burke in the plate for his victory in what was a similar event on the Roodee. He also has form at Brighton so is no stranger to tracks with idiosyncrasies and seems to be versatile in terms of ground. Billy Loughnane is an encouraging booking for Telegraphic in the opening Betfred 'Turbo Boost' Nursery. Charlie Johnston's charge did not give his running at the Ebor Festival, but was only just caught the time before that when Loughnane rode at Yarmouth. At Ffos Las, the Andrew Balding-trained Silent Force is a strong fancy for the Celebrate In Style At The Bridge Novice Stakes. He went into the notebook with his debut third at Newbury as definitely the type to be winning races. A good card at Irish Headquarters is headlined by the Friends of the Curragh Irish Cesarewitch, with The Reverend fancied to go close for Willie Mullins. Part-owned by Brighton & Hove Albion supremo Tony Bloom, this classy dual-purpose five-year-old made a pleasing return to action at Leopardstown at the Irish Champions Festival. There is a chance he is still feasibly handicapped, being only 6lb higher than when he won the Old Borough Cup when with the aforementioned Haggas.
