TIME TESTED SOLUTION FOR CHELMSFORD BACKERS

By Anita Chambers, Press Association

Time Tested can enhance his already impressive all-weather record with another victory in the CCR Handicap at Chelmsford. In 13 runs to date for Michael Bell, he has finished in the first four on nine occasions, with a 50 per cent strike-rate on artificial surfaces and his unblemished record at this track making him of particular interest again. The four-year-old was last seen at the Essex venue at the end of October, finishing is race in fine style to prevail by just under two lengths off a mark of 72, having scored off 4lb lower on his only previous visit. The form has not worked out brilliantly but one of those that finished in behind has won twice since and a 4lb rise does not look insurmountable for a horse that generally runs well off a short break. Time Tested could prove to be the second leg of a double for Bell, with Cardinal Point holding every chance in the CCR Handicap. He was a winner off a mark of 61 over just shy of a mile and six furlongs at this track in October and has placed in three outings since then, most recently when a length second in an amateur riders' heat over course and distance last month. Cardinal Point was slightly hampered by a rival who was quickly pulled up and while it may not have been the difference between winning and losing, it certainly did not help his cause.
