Barak can rule the roost at Leicester

By Nick Grant, Press Association Sport

Barak Warrior looked improved in winning last time out and can go in again in the TLC Teddies For Loving Care Handicap at Leicester. His triumph at Bath was a good deal better than he had shown in three previous starts, with James Keane’s charge said to have benefited from both being gelded and stepping up in trip on his handicap debut.

The winning margin was two lengths over Sir Mark Prescott’s short-priced favourite Campeona who has won three on the bounce since then. Even the fourth has come out and won, so the hope is the 7lb rise is one he might cope with. Rod Millman has his runners in good order and Bayside is capable of adding to her tally in the Catalogue Engineering Nursery Handicap. Although outclassed in the Chesham at Royal Ascot, as odds of 125-1 suggested she would be, she is not a bad type, winning at the second time of asking at Beverley and bouncing back from the Royal meeting to run a good race in third on the all-weather at Kempton. She took a keen hold there, but from looking well beaten two furlongs out she really came home well and hopefully has another win at least in her from this sort of mark. Al Wathba does not take much finding in the Loros – Irish EBF Novice Stakes. The Charlie Appleby-trained Wootton Bassett colt has all the makings of a smart performer, judged on his debut outing at Newmarket. That saw him beaten only by Aidan O’Brien’s Haffner, who already had a promising run under his belt and has since finished second in the Vintage Stakes at Goodwood. He was also due to be in action at Goodwood, albeit in a maiden, but was taken out due to ground conditions and this should serve as the ideal confidence booster before something much better. Cancelled was a recent course and distance winner for Jonjo and A J O’Neill and she should again play her part in the Dave Myers Memorial – I’m Having A Dave Day Fillies’ Handicap. She is up 3lb for that to 77 but did win off 83 in Ireland a couple of years ago and represents shrewd connections in The Horse Watchers. Elsewhere on the card, Sea Cookie is well worth another chance in the Ads Handicap. Being gelded and having a wind operation had the desired effect on him, as he rattled up a brace with wins at Newmarket and Newbury. A trip back to HQ for a valuable handicap at the July meeting did not go as hoped but he has been dropped 2lb as a result and this represents much calmer waters. At Chepstow, Crimson Road hopes to take advantage of his recent course and distance success when aiming to double up in the concluding DragonBet Proud Supporter Of Autism In Racing Handicap. John and Rhys Flint’s five-year-old was a one-length winner at the Welsh venue last month and has climbed up 3lb, but the Masar gelding had a previous mark of 84 from his days with the Crisfords so this resurgence in form means he could have room for manoeuvre. Charlie Clover’s Romidijo can finally get her nose in front at the seventh time of asking in the DragonBet / EBF Restricted Maiden Fillies’ Stakes. Owned by Nick Bradley, the Ardad two-year-old has finished second and third on two visits to Chepstow and she picked up another runner-up spot last time out over five furlongs at Lingfield. Romidijo steps back up in trip and should be the leading contender with her previous course experience. Sun Goddess can add to her impressive Airlie Stud Stakes success with another course and distance triumph in the Keeneland Phoenix Stakes to earn a record-extending 18th victory for Aidan O’Brien.
