Calandagan to show his class at Ascot once more

By Nick Robson, Press Association

Calandagan can add his name to a very elite list by becoming a multiple winner of the King George VI And Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot. While some of the best turf horses in history have their names on the roll of honour like Nijinsky, Brigadier Gerard, Mill Reef, Shergar and Dancing Brave - they only won it once. Nelson Bunker Hunt's brilliant mare Dahlia managed to win it twice in 1973 and 1974 and then we had to wait until Enable's second victory in 2019 for another two-time winner, two years after her first. It shows how good she was that she won it a third time in 2020. Of course many of the brilliant colt's that did win the midsummer highlight did not get another chance as they were packed off to stud, and that is what is in Calandagan's favour in being a gelding. He has literally been all around the world winning races, and was thoroughly deserving of his title of best turf horse on the planet in 2025, probably based on his victory in the Japan Cup. It was only a narrow one over Masquerade Ball, who Ascot must be delighted has come over to reoppose, but if Calandagan could beat him while having an away day, it is hard to seen the Japanese contender turning the tables on a track he will not be used to. Calandagan loves Ascot, having also won a King Edward VII Stakes and the Champion Stakes there and quite simply Benvenuto Cellini will have to find masses of improvement, despite being in receipt of 11lb. Kalpana and Minnie Hauk may give him most to do, but Calandagan looks solid. Alta Regina was strongly backed to give Hamad Al Jehani a first Royal Ascot winner in the Queen Mary and while she finished just out of the places in sixth, she ran a very meritorious race. The form looks strong with the second coming out and winning a Group Two and the seventh going close in Listed company this week and the step up to six furlongs looks sure to suit in the Princess Margaret Japan Cup Stakes. The Owen Burrows-trained Touleen finally showed at three what she had promised at two when a slightly unluckly loser in the Coronation Stakes. In splitting a pair of Aidan O'Brien Classic winners in Precise and True Love, she showed she belongs at the top level and there will be some long faces at Burrows' Lambourn yard if she is turned over in the Longines Valiant Stakes. The booking of Ryan Moore for Harry Charlton's Completely Random in the Moet & Chandon International Handicap looks interesting. Only 10th in the Victoria Cup in May, he found only Double Rush too good in the Wokingham last month. He has yet to win over seven furlongs but Moore must think he has every chance to maintain the partnership. Royal Champion might be having his first run for 90 days, but he is undoubtedly the class act in the Sky Bet York Stakes and can repeat his victory of 12 months ago. Karl Burke's charge may be eight but he has taken his form to new levels in the last couple of years. He actually finished third in this race in 2023 for Roger Varian but after a short ill-fated spell in Australia, he joined Burke and has not looked back. He has won the Winter Derby, the Bahrain International Trophy and the Neom Turf Cup in Saudi Arabia, as well as finishing close up in fourth to Romantic Warrior in Hong Kong. Simply, if he is fully fit after a break, it will not matter that he is conceding weight to all his rivals. With a good draw Hugo Palmer's Velociraptor should get off the mark at the second attempt in the IRE Incentive, It Pays To Buy Irish Maiden Stakes at Chester. He was third to two very classy type on his debut at the July meeting.
