Kempton

By Nick Robson, Press Association

Wise Approach should benefit from a significant drop in class in the ebfstallions.com Conditions Stakes at Kempton. Charlie Appleby's charge has been mixing it with the best for most of his career, and should have a stud place booked with a Group One win on his record. That came in the Middle Park this time last year, after he had pushed Venetian Sun close in the Prix Morny. It has been disappointing he has failed to add to his tally this term but the fact connections are persevering means they must think the fire still burns. Last time out he was not disgraced behind More Thunder in the Park Stakes and this looks a good opportunity to get his career back on track. Sod Hall Lane looks a nice sprinting prospect for Declan Carroll and can make it two from three for his career in the British EBF Novice Stakes at Musselburgh. The Blue Point colt cost €95,000 this time last year at Goffs in Ireland and did not make his debut until August. He had been an intended runner back in June but was taken out on the day of the race when he became dehydrated. Sent off at 20-1 for that Musselburgh debut he defied market expectations with a big run to finish second to Minster Man. That was an even better run than it appeared at the time as the winner had already had a run when second and has subsequently come out and bolted up again. Sod Hall Lane was out three weeks later at Hamilton and showing his versatility, handled the cut in the ground with aplomb, winning by over two lengths. The form has been boosted by the second who won next time and is now rated 82 so Sod Hall Lane looks above average. Kelpie Grey is at his best with cut in the ground and having dropped further in the weights, could get back to winning ways in the Invades Day Party Handicap. Jim Goldie's charge has been busy this season, as he usually is, but you have to go back to May 2024 for his last victory. That was the third leg of a hat-trick, which saw him go up to a mark of 83, but he has paid the price. He is now down to a basement rating of 54 but signalled when third last time out he could be coming back to some form. George Boughey has only sent only one horse all season to Catterick but he is sending Duchess Of Immatin on the long journey for the Racing To School Nursery Handicap. Having cost 220,000 guineas you would be wanting something of a return and after two inauspicious starts to begin her career, the switch to the all-weather at Kempton paid off. She beat an Andrew Balding-trained youngster who had shown decent form to be third at Newmarket so a mark of 64 may underestimate her for this handicap debut. Charlie Johnston's Green Area was a very impressive six-length winner at Carlisle and can follow up in the Amstel Gallop Handicap. The St Mark's Basilica filly ran satisfactorily in her first two starts before having a midsummer break. Making all at Carlisle, she looked much better and if allowed to dominate again she could take some catching.
