Sun Goddess can remain on a roll in Cheveley Park

By Nick Robson, Press Association

Sun Goddess can continue her remarkable winning sequence by adding another Group One to her tally in a stellar renewal of the Tattersalls Sceptre Sessions Cheveley Park Stakes at Newmarket. To give an idea of the strength in depth to the race, a very solid dual Group Three-winning filly like Andrew Balding's Moonrise is available at huge odds. There are three fillies at the head of the betting, Senorita Bonita and Libertango as well as the selection, who in an ordinary year would be an odds-on favourite but as they all stand their ground it is even a good betting race. All three fillies will have their supporters and for good reason. George Boughey's Libertango's sole defeat came at the hands of Senorita Bonita in the Duchess of Cambridge Stakes and she has since won the Lowther. Senorita Bonita's only reverse came at Royal Ascot in the Queen Mary behind Aidan O'Brien's Victorious, who has not run since. Sun Goddess has taken her form to a new level since her Ascot defeat at the hands of Libertango, though, after which she was a Group Two winner within a week. It was her defeat of subsequent Group One winning-colt Folsom Blues in the Phoenix Stakes which marked her out as special, and she has won a sales race at York and the Moyglare Stud Stakes by a wide margin since then. She is on a roll. Orthodox looked right out of the top drawer when winning at Royal Ascot in June, which seems a long time ago now the nights are drawing in, but he can remind everyone of his talent in the Tattersalls Middle Park Stakes. The Havana Grey colt has only been seen once since that red-hot day, when he blitzed the Norfolk Stakes field in winning by three-and-a-half lengths. It is fair to question the form but the third did win a Listed race at Ayr last week and Orthodox's defeat in the Prix Morny behind Senorita Bonita can be explained away by the soft ground. Back on a much firmer surface on the Rowley Mile, he is given one more chance. First Law gets the verdict in an open looking Tattersalls Online Royal Lodge Stakes. William Buick has chosen the Too Darn Hot colt over stablemate Quest For Stars who has won three and finished third in Group One company already. First Law was a Listed winner at Haydock last time out on heavy ground which probably did not suit him given he handled fast ground so well on his debut. Having cost one million guineas at Tattersalls Book 1, it is only natural connections will harbour Classic dreams. Ed Dunlop could do with Pathein winning the bet365 Cambridgeshire after a relatively quiet couple of seasons. The days of Ouija Board and Snow Fairy are long gone but in 2023 he was saddling over 70 winners still. Pathein is one of his better performers now with a rating of 102 and really caught the eye last time out at Doncaster when unable to get a clear run behind Thunder Run. With William Buick booked a big run is expected. Another trainer who has had a quiet season is Saeed bin Suroor, who used to dominate on days like this. His Sword Maker looked very promising this time last year but has not been seen since finishing second in the Jumeirah Guineas Trial at Meydan to subsequent Grade One winner Title Role. If fit a mark of 96 surely underestimates him. Eternal Force was one of the favourites for the Lincoln but for a horse who needs cut this summer has not been ideal. William Haggas has fitted cheekpieces for the first time in the William Hill Epic Boosts Handicap at Haydock where the ground is much softer than most places and that could make the difference. Ripon's season comes to a close on Saturday where Tim Easterby's I'm Next lines up in the Ripon Cathedral City Of The Dales Handicap off the exact same mark off which he was second in the Great St Wilfrid at the track last month. This looks a weaker affair.
